College heading from principal and Alumni head of institution should co-operate and discuss the matter of lacking and underdeveloped of education in college.

It will be better if we keep intouch with one another

In order to enhance and promote the rapprochement between Alumni and College, the present teaching facultys' and students' should organise the program from time to time, to which alumni should be invited to attend.

Meeting should be conducted atleast twice in a Year and share our Opinion which will build our relationship stronger also to know each other more.

Organise Alumus Meet annually

Be close with the students, listen to their grievances, try to meet their grievances, let there be more curriculum activities, create moments to fill every page of a students three years stay in college with college related memories.

Should have annual meeting once every year to discuss the matter and future of the college.

By sharing about the importance for college and also it's achievements and inviting us for special programs, fests or any other administrative development of the college

Always stay in touch with the alumni and update about our college to each and everyone what's happening in the college.

Work hard to succeed.

Alumni should continue to support and work for the betterment and upliftment of the college.

To have a meeting one or twice in a year to communicate with each other

Annual alumni meeting every year

Cooperation

Organise more events/programs that includes the Alumni members

The association can organize various events and activities such as reunions, professional development workshops, social gatherings, and community service projects. By participating in these activities, alumni can strengthen their ties to the college and to each other, while also benefiting from the resources and support offered by the association. In addition, the college can keep alumni informed about its latest developments, programs, and initiatives through regular newsletters, social media updates, and other communication channels. This can help alumni stay engaged with the college and feel like they are part of a larger community. Finally, the college can also seek input and feedback from alumni on its policies, programs, and strategic direction. By actively seeking and incorporating alumni perspectives, the college can demonstrate its commitment to its graduates and build a stronger and more supportive relationship with them.

No proxy teacher should be attached and if there's any, it should be report to NGOs like KSU and others.

Enough Professor is required

Since it's outskirts of the town, it would be of great help if the college can run a proper canteen for the students to relax and refresh themselves.
